

In-Class Essay

Each student will color a picture for ten minutes, and then exchange it with another classmate. Write about the picture you receive from one of these three perspectives.

- a) Write an article for a psychological journal interpreting the findings from this drawing as if a patient produced it in a recent counseling session.
- b) Write a letter to the procurement board of an art museum, explaining why they should purchase this work for display.
- c) As an anthropologist, write an article for Reader's Digest in which you describe an ancient civilization based on this recent finding from a dig.

In-Class Essay

Each student will color a picture for ten minutes, and then exchange it with another classmate. Write about the picture you receive from one of these three perspectives.

- a) Write an article for a psychological journal interpreting the findings from this drawing as if a patient produced it in a recent counseling session.
- b) Write a letter to the procurement board of an art museum, explaining why they should purchase this work for display.
- c) As an anthropologist, write an article for Reader's Digest in which you describe an ancient civilization based on this recent finding from a dig.